FORMER VICE-PRESIDENT MARSHALL IS DEAD

PASSED AWAY AT WASHINGTON AT 9:30 A. M. TODAY

HAD SUFFERED FROM NERVOUS EXHAUSTION AND A COLD

DIED WITHOUT WARNING FROM A SUDDEN HEART AT-TACK

(By United Press)
Washington, June 1—Former Vice-President Marshall died at his hotel here today at 9:30 a. m.

Marshall, believed to be convalescing from nervous exhaustion and a cold which prostrated him on his arrival here last Tuesday died without warning from a sudden heart attack.

Marshall was vice-president from 1913 to 1921 during both Wilson administration. He had spent a restful night, according to those with him and apparently was well on his way to recovery from the illness which compelled him to remain in his hotel room from the time of his arrival here. As he was resting in bed this morning, however, his heart gave way and he died without a word.

Thomas Riley Marshall was a Hoosier, born at North Manchester, Ind., on March 14, 1854. After graduating from Wabash College in 1873 he started the practice of law at Columbia City, Indiana. His first political post of major importance was that of governor of Indiana to which he was elected in 1908 and which he held for four years. He was nominated vice-president at the Baltimore Democratic National convention in 1912 on the ticket with Woodrow Wilson and re-nominated and re-elected in 1916.

Following his retirement to private life in 1921 he was appointed by President Harding a member of the United States Coal Commission. His home was in Indianapolis.

As presiding officer of the senate, Marshall probably ranked as one of the most popular in history of that body. His impartiality was never questioned and his ready wit enlivened what otherwise would have been dreary proceedings. He had a host of friends on both sides of the chamber and the esteem in which he was held was testified by presentation to him of a huge loving cup on behalf of both republican and democrats when he transferred the gavel to the then Vice-President Calvin Coolidge in 1921.

Marshall survived his chief, Woodrow Wilson by just short of 15 months. He was 71 years old.

AN ELOQUENT AND A NOTED LAWYER

Thomas Riley Marshall, vice president of the United States during the eight years of the Wilson administration, was born at North Manchester, Ind., March 14, 1854.

His father, Dr. Daniel M. Marshall, was an old-time Hoosier practitioner and was descended from the family of John Marshall, Revolutionary patriot and Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court.

On his mother's side he was a direct descendant of Charles Carroll, the last surviving signer of the Declaration of Independence.

Marshall attended the public school at North Manchester. This training was supplemented by an extensive reading of the classics at home under the supervision of his parents.

After finishing his public school education, Marshall entered Wabash college at Crawfordsville, Ind. There he gained leadership in literary and debating activities. In 1873, at the age of 19, he was graduated from Wabash with the highest scholastic honors.

Marshall decided to enter the legal profession. He went to Fort Wayne, Ind., and read law in the office of Judge Walter Olds. On his twenty-first birthday he was admitted to the bar. A year later he received his master's degree from Wabash.

A Noted Lawyer
Soon after, Marshall went to Columbia City and opened a law office. There, for 30 years, he practiced law. His eloquence and personal magnetism

LEAKING ROWBOAT SINKS; TWO DULUTH FISHERMEN DROWNED

NO WORD YET FROM CAPTAIN AMUNDSEN

POLAR EXPLORER 'HOPPED OFF' NEARLY TWO WEEKS AGO

LEFT SPITZBERGEN FOR AIR- PLANE FLIGHT TO THE NORTH POLE

(By United Press)
New York, June 1.—The North American Newspaper Alliance announced through the United Press this afternoon that no word had been received from Captain Amundsen, polar explorer who hopped off from Spitzbergen in two planes nearly a fortnight ago on a flight to the North Pole.

At Oslo, the Norwegian capital, where word of the fate of the expedition was awaited anxiously, nothing had been heard from Amundsen.

Amundsen made him a good lawyer to plead a case before a jury. Throngs from the surrounding country always jammed the court room at Columbia City when Tom Marshall was going to argue a big criminal case.

On October 2, 1895, Marshall married Miss Lois Kinsey, of Angola, Ind.

His first political aspiration was nipped in the bud. The Democrats nominated him for prosecuting attorney in 1880 and he was swept to defeat in a Republican landslide.

Another time he was offered the nomination for Congress, but declined, saying he was "afraid he might be elected."

Several years later he served as Democratic chairman of his district. It was not until 1908, however, that he became a figure in state politics. That year the Democratic state convention found a number of gubernatorial aspirants in the field and turned to Marshall as a compromise candidate.

He made an aggressive campaign and went into office on what was for Indiana a big majority.

As governor he gave the state of Indiana a businesslike, progressive administration in which the element of common sense often replaced the dictates of political expediency. His conduct of the state's affairs gave the Democrats an assured victory in the state in the election of 1912, and made him one of the outstanding political figures in the middle west.

In 1912 the Indiana delegation to the national convention went down to Baltimore instructed to start a "favorite son" boom for Marshall for president.

Nominee Yawned
He refused to take the boom seriously and laughed at his friends who urged him to get into the race. When, long after midnight one night, a newspaper reporter got him out of bed and told him he had been nominated for the Vice Presidency, Marshall yawned and asked the reporter why he did not wait until morning to call him. On election night, Marshall did not even stay up to get the returns.

On March 4, 1913, he took the oath of office as Vice President of the United States. His ability to get along with people and a sense of humor that never failed him under any circumstances made of him an excellent presiding officer of the senate.

Often, in the heat of debate when the situation was becoming strained, Marshall oiled the machinery of legislation.

"SIDEWALKS OF NEW YORK" SONG WRITER IS DEAD

OLD BLIND CHARLES LAWLER PASSED AWAY FROM HEART ATTACK

SONG NEARLY MADE AL SMITH DEMOCRATIC NOMINEE FOR PRESIDENCY

(By United Press)
New York, June 1.—Blind, old Charles Lawler who 30 years ago in an east side tenement house wrote that imperishable ballad "The Sidewalks of New York," died Sunday from a heart attack.

The teeming city whose greatest song he had written barely knew of his passing. Lawler had planned to celebrate his 73rd birthday on Tuesday next and now his funeral has been arranged for that day.

"In the good old days," Charlie knew intimately Tom Foley and Charlie Murphy and others of fame. In after years, they forgot him and he was alone when he died.

But his song—his one success—although he made little from its sale, could not be forgotten. Democratic gatherings swayed to its refrain for more than a quarter of a century. The song nearly made Al Smith democratic nominee for the presidency last summer when with tears in their eyes, delegates from Duquesne and Denver raised their voices in a sentimental chorus.

LAW IN LITIGATION AFFECTED 12,000 CHILDREN IN SCHOOLS NAMED

Governor W. M. Pierce, Attorney General Van Winkle and District Attorney Meyers were named in the injunction appealed to the Supreme Court to dismiss it on the grounds that the law was a constitutional exercise of the police power of the state.

Signifying Completion of 4 Years of High School Work

DR. LOTUS D. COFFMAN SPEAKER

President of University of Minnesota Delivered His Address in Interesting Manner

On Friday evening, May 29th, eighty-nine students were graduated from the Brainerd high school and received their diplomas, signifying the completion of four years of high school work.

The commencement exercises were conducted at the New Park theatre, a full house attending the ceremony, details of which will appear tomorrow in the commencement issue of the Brainerdian weekly.

Dr. Lotus D. Coffman, president of the University of Minnesota, was the principal speaker, delivering his message in a manner so interesting and natural, that the end of his address seemed to come all too soon to his eager listeners. A few of the many thoughts and facts brought forth by Dr. Coffman will also be enumerated in the commencement issue, although the full content of the address can be realized only by those fortunate enough to hear the speaker's words, uttered in a way that proved familiarity with and interest in his subject.

Other numbers of the program included remarks by Miss Mary Tornstrom, principal of the high school, by Prof. W. C. Cobb, Superintendent of Schools, and by George D. LaBar, president of the school board. Watch for the particulars in tomorrow's Brainerdian.

Students on the honor roll at the high school for the past year, are as follows:

Seniors — (A) Gladys Babcock,
Elizabeth Folsom, Elsie Linn, Ruth
Perlman, Dorothy Quinlen. (B)
Elvia Benson, Sylvia Foster, Vivian Gillette, Jeannett Jackson, Ellen Johnson, Thomas Larkin, Alice Larson, Mardelle Mraz, Alfreda Zawad-ski.

Juniors — (A) Norma Calkins, Angela Untereker. (B) Katherine Staub, Dorothy Weisz.

Sophomores — (A) Emily Cocks,
Marjorie Cunningham, Maude Davis,
Elmer Erickson, Grace Gorst, Irene
Koepl, Mayo Lawrence, Fern Lewis,
Marion Liners, Viola McKay, Bessie
Varner. (B) Opal Brown, Dorothy Deering, Esther Gallagher, Thelma Hendrickson, Mildred Harrington,
Dorothy Mickelson, Helen Paine, Shirley Peterson.

Freshmen — (A) Margaret Dillan, Lois Untereker. (B) Rolland Bentley, Toivo Bikkie, Herman Buscher, Kathleen Early, Harold Flaata, Orval Harrington, Violet Hoston, Grace Inwards, Dorothy Kleven, John Leaf, Beatrice Liners, Donald McNamara,
Irene Molstad, Elma Mustonen,
Myrtle Peterson, Elsie Swanson,
Maude Thompson, Henry Viken.

Set tomato plants between the rows of peas and you will have a follow crop when the peas are all done.

Get celery seed started in the seed bed. Also cabbage, cauliflower and kohl rabi to follow the earliest crop.

The merry month of May is a merry month of weeds. Don't let them get the start. Look over wheel hoes, if you haven't one.

Don't overlook the new early flowering strains of cosmos and also the double ones. They will be a revelation in this handsome annual.

Take a chance on tomatoes. They can be protected easily from any unwelcome nip. Set flower pots in the row and have a board ready to set over the tops of the young plants, and they will come through any ordinary snap. You can hang burlap over the board to make a tent for them and then take it off in the morning if it looks threatening.

All seedsmen now offer seed of the hardy easter lily, Lillium regal. It is as easy to grow from seed as an onion and the bulbs will be blooming size in three years, some of them blooming the second season. It costs $1 a bulk.
You can raise two or three dozen from a packet of seed. This lily wants full sun, unlike many other lilies.

Old Friends

by O. Lawrence
Hawthorne

So many of us soon forget
The friends we leave behind.
With earnest vows we part, and yet
They seldom come to mind;
With newfound interests each day
Is fully occupied;
We go serenely on our way
And seem quite satisfied.

In search of greater happiness
We bid old friends good-by—
A parting word, a last caress,
A deep regretful sigh—
Then all too soon, in lands afar,
The welcome that we find Bids us forget how fond we are
Of those we leave behind.

But sometime in the lives of all,
No matter where we roam,
We'll hear again the faithful call
Of those old friends at home.
And then it is that memory
With tender touch will play
Some old familiar melody—
A song of yesterday.

And with that song to guide our feet
To haunts we used to know
We'll yet find time—perhaps—to greet
Those friends of long ago.
Their cordial smiles will show how well
Their hearts have stood the test
Of our neglect. Then can we tell Why old-time friends are best!

Crops Under the Soil

Root crops are favorites in the vegetable garden, because they require no particular skill, and anybody is reasonably sure of getting at least a fair crop. Also, they can be planted at almost any time until midsummer, with few exceptions, and produce a crop.

Carrots, beets, radishes, turnips and oyster plant or salsify constitute the chief root crops. The onion might be added to this class, although its product is a bulb and not strictly speaking a root. They all want a cool soil for their success, and to add this requirement to the garden, deep spad-ing or plowing is needed for the best success. This lets the roots get down new honey ball melon, a cross between the honey dew and the musk melon which came into the market in small quantities last year from its Texas growers. This melon is new and untried in northern gardens. Plant the seed early, either in the hotbed or indoors as it needs nearly as long a season as the honey dew.

Set in a few gladiolus bulbs every week to keep up a succession for cutting.

The best dust to keep off striped cucumber beetles is composed of calcium arsenate mixed with land plaster.

Sow wrinkled peas for the last crop about the middle of the month.

Keep liquid manure containers covered so flies and mosquitoes can't breed in them.

Keep bug poison mixed and handy.
Bugs are early in early springs, and worse yet, they stay late. The longer the season the more they can breed.
Get at them early.

BETTER LONG DISTANCE SERVICE

Local Manager H. D. Hoffmann Explains the Improvements Now in Effect

EXTENDS TO 30 TOWNS

Long Distance Calls Handled by New Method Take Station-to-Station Rate

A more rapid method of handling certain kinds of long distance telephone calls has just been placed in effect from Brainerd to 30 surrounding towns and cities by the Northwestern Bell Telephone Company,
according to Local Manager H. D.
Hoffmann. This new method is almost as rapid as the handling of a call from one telephone to another in this exchange. Long distance calls handled by this new method will take what is known as the station-to-station rate, or the lowest long distance rate, says Local Manager H. D. Hoffmann.

For the present the improved service will be available to the following towns: Aitkin, Backus, Crosby, Crow Wing, Cyphers, Deerwood, Fargo, Hackensack, Hubert, Jenkins, Kimberley, Merrifield, Mildred, Motley, McGregor, Nisswa, Pequot, Pil-lager, Pine River, Staples, Tamarack, Walker, Bemidji, Duluth, Little Falls, Minneapolis, St. Cloud, St.
Paul, Sylvan, Wadena.

This new and rapid service will be available on long distance calls to the towns named above whenever patrons make it known that they are willing to talk to anyone at the called telephone. Under this method the calling subscriber, when placing a call to a large exchange, must give the telephone number of the person or institution wanted. On calls to smaller exchanges the number is desirable, but does not necessarily have to be furnished.

In placing long distance calls that are to be handled by this new, rapid method, the subscriber calls for "long distance" as usual. The operator who takes the call asks the calling subscriber to remain on the line and, unless a circuit to the town desired is not available right at that time, completes the call at once without the calling subscriber having to hang up and be recalled later.

Local Manager H. D. Hoffmann explains that while every effort will be made to use the new method to the above towns, there may be short periods when unavoidable conditions will make it impossible. If, during such periods, a call can not be handled by this rapid method, the operator, instead of asking the subscriber to hold the line, will advise him that he will be called. In such cases the call will be handled by the usual methods.

GIFT BOOK

AT THE LIBRARY

Gift Book Week, June 1 to 6 inclusive, will be observed at the Brainerd Public Library.

At the Library Board meeting on Monday evening, it was learned that the funds were too low to permit the purchase of any new books until the next apportionment came due, and as new books especially children's books are an imperative need, it decided to make an appeal to the public for books. In many homes there are good children's books whose owners have outgrown them or no longer care for them. These would be so acceptable to the children who patronize the library. Good adult books, recent fiction or reference books will also be gratefully received.

The public is invited to inspect the new children's department in the basement. The need for this department has long been felt, but the necessary funds have not been forthcoming. This spring, however, the Board found it necessary, because of the congestion in the main library.
Because of this, a curtailment in other expenditures became a necessity and the book fund suffered accordingly. Hence the plea for books! We are trying to give you an efficient library service on insur-ficient funds.

All those who have books to give to the library, will have them called for, if you will please call the library or any member of the board.

BETTER LONG DISTANCE SERVICE

Local Manager H. D. Hoffmann Explains the Improvements Now in Effect

EXTENDS TO 30 TOWNS

Long Distance Calls Handled by New Method Take Station-to-Station Rate

A more rapid method of handling certain kinds of long distance telephone calls has just been placed in effect from Brainerd to 30 surrounding towns and cities by the Northwestern Bell Telephone Company, according to Local Manager H. D. Hoffmann. This new method is almost as rapid as the handling of a call from one telephone to another in this exchange. Long distance calls handled by this new method will take what is known as the station-to-station rate, or the lowest long distance rate, says Local Manager H. D. Hoffmann.

For the present the improved service will be available to the following towns: Aitkin, Backus, Crosby, Crow Wing, Cyphers, Deerwood, Fargo, Hackensack, Hubert, Jenkins, Kimberley, Merrifield, Mildred, Motley, McGregor, Nisswa, Pequot, Pillager, Pine River, Staples, Tamarack, Walker, Bemidji, Duluth, Little Falls, Minneapolis, St. Cloud, St. Paul, Sylvan, Wadena.

This new and rapid service will be available on long distance calls to the towns named above whenever patrons make it known that they are willing to talk to anyone at the called telephone. Under this method the calling subscriber, when placing a call to a large exchange, must give the telephone number of the person or institution wanted. On calls to smaller exchanges the number is desirable, but does not necessarily have to be furnished.

If, during such periods, a call can not be handled by this rapid method, the operator, instead of asking the subscriber

MEMORIAL DAY SPORT PROGRAM

BRAINERD is not the only town that had a discussion regarding the proper observance of Memorial Day. Here we had a circus to complicate the day and it is difficult to concentrate the ideas of a young hopeful on the day when his thoughts are lingering on the circus parade. In Brainerd Memorial Day was fully observed in the morning and the parade and circus were given in the afternoon, with another performance in the evening.

American Legion officials, referring to the track meet at the University of Minnesota Saturday, asserted that "it never can happen again" on Memorial Day. The declaration was made in a general letter issued by the American Legion headquarters Saturday.

"The legion officers declare that inasmuch as Memorial Day is a 'holy day,' it is no occasion for festivity, which is more suited to July 4 or Armistice Day.

"The university argued that no desecration of the day was intended, but that the meet would demonstrate the fitness of athletes competing to answer the call of their country in time of crisis. Services were held at the University Memorial stadium in connection with the event.

"This method of glossing over the event," the veteran continued, "does not screen its nature. A field meet is an occasion when the athletes compete to win honors and the spectators go there to witness the contest, not as a mark of respect to the dead. Such a festive occasion is out of order on Memorial Day," the statement concluded.

POTATO ACREAGE IN MINNESOTA

WITHOUT definite information as to how many potatoes the Minnesota Potato Growers Exchange will be called upon to handle this season, it will be impossible to give the service that the farmers have a right to expect. Last year the exchange sent out 9,000 questionnaires and 3,000 farmers never reported. Because of that fact many phases of the operations of the exchange were carried on in the dark.

The report to be filled out has been made a very simple one. The big question is whether he has planted potatoes or not and how much. If a member has no potatoes, he should so state on the post-card that the Exchange is sending him.

In all fairness, the members of the Minnesota Potato Growers Exchange should give their organization every possible aid to function properly. If there is going to be a big reduction in potato acreage, as some reports state, this exchange should be the first to have that information. Needless to state, all information as to acreage of members, etc., is guarded as strictly confidential by the organization.

KNUTE NELSON MEMORIAL

MONS MAHLUM was named chairman of county solicitation to raise $375 as Crow Wing county's subscription to build the Knute Nelson memorial. The solicitation came at a time when many other activities were being carried on and only the small sum of $17 was obtained and which has been remitted to Charles J. Moos of St. Paul, secretary of the Memorial committee.

The Dispatch is ready to receive further subscriptions, which will be acknowledged in the paper and promptly transmitted.

When Knute Nelson first went to congress he represented the sixth district which at that time included about all of the state north of St. Cloud. Later he became governor and then United States senator and became nationally and internationally known. He has scores of friends in Brainerd and Crow Wing county and if they but realized that a small response to the call of the Memorial committee would quickly raise the county's quota, we are sure they would act.

Of the eight responses made and sent in, seven were from Brainerd and one from Crosby. Many counties have raised their quotas and this county is one of the very few lagging far behind.

A MOUNTAIN OF TROUBLES

THE report of the receivers of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road epitomizes the troubles which caused the receivership.

Everything is enumerated from competition with the motor busses to competition with the Panama canal; the long and short haul clause of the interstate commerce commission act, heavy increase in operating costs and the recent agricultural depressions.

In addition to these one may mention that the road started an expansion program just in advance of a period of depression. It put in so many improvements that it has developed faster than the country it serves. It is unfortunate that the "Milwaukee" is in receivership hands. It has ever been a progressive road and this is the first instance we know of where a progressive spirit, when shown at the wrong time, has caused grief.

SUPERVISING CIRCUSES

THE council granted the circus of Saturday a permit or license to exhibit in Brainerd. In that regard, we would suggest that in future they inform themselves as to the scale of prices to be charged. Seventy-five cents general admission is rather a high mark, when many of us have seen the biggest shows for 50 cents. Plus the 75 cents charge, came a reserved seat charge of 50c.

The side show charged 25c admission and revealed five attractions, of which two were selling stuff. In the side show another 25c admission was charged for a dancing girls act.

DUE to improved road conditions and lower gasoline prices it has been found that the average mile cost of running light automobiles dropped from 10 cents in 1921 to 6 cents in 1924. The reduction in car running expense, says the Littlefork Times, was in line with that reported by Minnesota county agents and highway maintenance superintendents. The general figures were based on the experience of 2,000 business houses furnishing their traveling salesmen with automobiles.

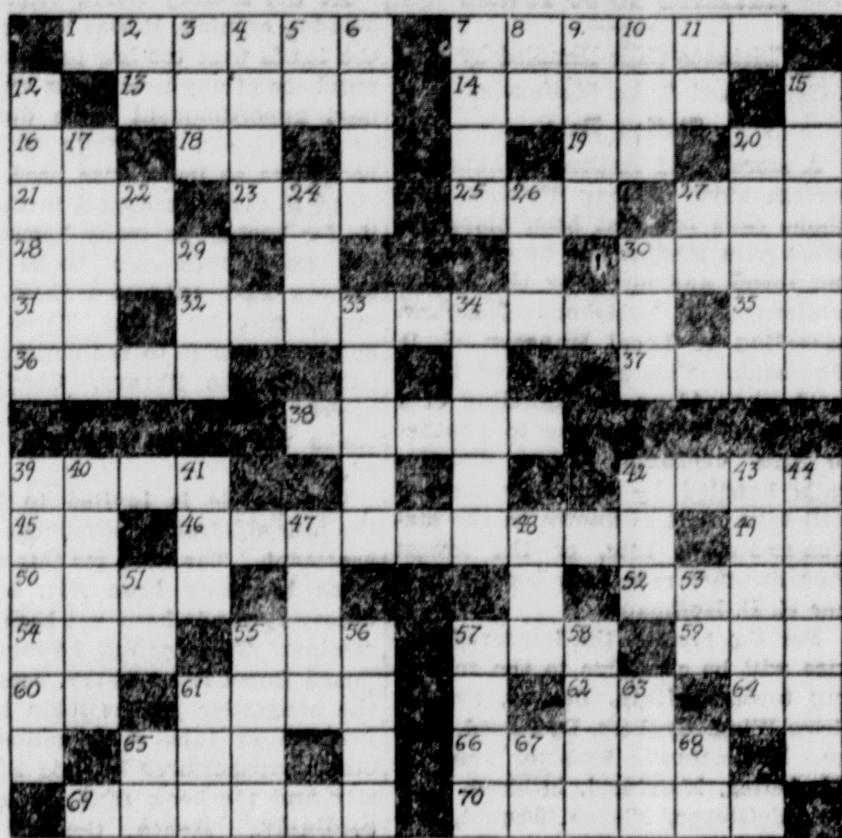

A RECENT magazine article comes to the conclusion that humorists grow sad over the job of being funny.

THE Dutch will stage the Olympics in 1928, and it will take some class to beat the Dutch.

isolation by mildly poking fun at some of the senators who were inclined to take themselves too seriously.

On one occasion two senators indulged in personalities and Marshall rapped the Senate to order and said he had a communication to read. Senators thought he was going to read an important message from the president, and those who had been loafing in the cloak rooms came hurrying to their seats.

The communication was a letter from a patriot out in Wisconsin announcing he had named his latest son for a member of the Senate.

The Cigar Incident

Another time, when the Senate engaged in wearisome debate over the welfare of the nation, Marshall listened patiently as one senator after another offered his pet panacea to cure the ailments of the country, and finally leaned over to the secretary of the Senate and said, loud enough for the loquacious senator then occupying the floor to hear:

"What this country needs is a good, five-cent cigar!"

Throughout the war period Marshall consistently supported the policies of his chieftain, and gain his humor helped drive off the weariness of war responsibility resting on official Washington.

One day, entering his private office in the Capitol, he found a stranger sitting at his desk writing a letter. The visitor did not recognize the unassuming man as the vice president.

"I wanted to sit at the Vice President's desk and write a letter to the folks back home," the stranger explained.

Marshall waited patiently for a quarter of an hour until the man had finished. The man got up and said: "Now you can have the desk."

"That's the hard part of it," Marshall replied.

Marshall occupied an unusual position during the latter part of Wilson's second administration. When the President was absent in Europe during the peace conference and later after Wilson's physical breakdown in 1919, many of the duties of the presidency were thrust upon the Vice President.

These duties Marshall performed quietly and thoroughly in an effort to take all the burdens he could from the shoulders of his stricken chief.

Enough of Public Life

Although Marshall was mentioned for several public offices after he retired from the vice presidency in 1921, he said he had had enough of public life.

For a time he and Mrs. Marshall retained residence in Washington and then returned to Indianapolis, where failing health prevented Marshall from engaging in the strenuous life to which he had been accustomed.

He spent much of his time reading books he had never had time to read before.

Though his own home was childless, Marshall was a great lover of children.

Marshall was sincere in the performance of the public duties to which he was called, and retained always the simplicity that made Tom Marshall one of the best liked citizens of Columbia City, his old home town.

PRES. COOLIDGE
IN CONDOLENCES

Washington, June 1.—On hearing of Marshall's death, President Coolidge sent a letter to Mrs. Marshall, declaring Marshall's power of making friends was truly remarkable.

The letter follows:

"My dear Mrs. Marshall:
"Just this moment the shocking intelligence has come to me of the death of your husband and I hasten to express to you not only my deep sympathy and condolences, but the real sense of personal loss. Mr. Marshall's long and notable public service both in Indiana and as vice-president for 8 years, had won for him recognition for high character and exceptional ability.

"Beyond this and something that he would have prized even more dearly he had come to himself a truly remarkable power of making friends and friendships extending to each part of the nation and beyond it. His delightful fund of humor illuminated a pile of lives and affairs that had made for him a unique place among public men. He leaves a place that there is none to occupy.

"Mrs. Coolidge joins in my expression of sorrow and sympathy to you and yours in this case of your bereavement.

"Most sincerely yours, CALVIN COOLIDGE."

The Finest Flavoring
You Can Buy Is McCann's
Vanilla Compound

Dark, a perfect blend of Vanilla, Vanillin and Coumarin, Caramel colored. The perfect flavoring for cakes, puddings, ice cream and icings. McCann's Vanilla Compound Dark has won a place in the hearts of thousands of particular housewives throughout the United States.

Vanilla Compound Dark is the result of a popular demand years ago for a Vanilla that would not "Bake out" and would still be aromatic. It was left for McCann chemists to solve the intricate problem. Vanilla extract, made from the finest selected vanilla beans, with its intangible aroma and mature flavor not found in substitutes; Vanillin, the working principle of Vanilla, added to strengthen; Coumarin, to add another notch of strength which would be instantly noticed if left out. Thus Vanilla Compound Dark is a mature, aromatic, powerful flavor that won't "bake out," and is not rank or raw in any way. The compound is strong. You need use but little.

McCann's Vanilla Compound Dark is made exclusively by McCann & Company, Winona, Minn., and is brought direct from us to your door by our traveling dealer, known in your community as the "McCann Man." He will call on you soon, and at regular intervals thereafter.

MEMORIAL DAY SPORT PROGRAM

BRAINERD is not the only town that had a discussion regarding the proper observance of Memorial Day. Here we had a circus to complicate the day and it is difficult to concentrate the ideas of a young hopeful on the day when his thoughts are lingering on the circus parade. In Brainerd Memorial Day was fully observed in the morning and the parade and circus were given in the afternoon, with another performance in the evening.

American Legion officials, referring to the track meet at the University of Minnesota Saturday, asserted that "it never can happen again" on Memorial Day. The declaration was made in a general letter issued by the American Legion headquarters Saturday.

"The legion officers declare that inasmuch as Memorial Day is a 'holy day,' it is no occasion for festivity, which is more suited to July 4 or Armistice Day.

"The university argued that no desecration of the day was intended, but that the meet would demonstrate the fitness of athletes competing to answer the call of their country in time of crisis. Services were held at the University Memorial stadium in connection with the event.

"This method of glossing over the event," the veteran continued, "does not screen its nature. A field meet is an occasion when the athletes compete to win honors and the spectators go there to witness the contest, not as a mark of respect to the dead. Such a festive occasion is out of order on Memorial Day," the statement concluded.

POTATO ACREAGE IN MINNESOTA

WITHOUT definite information as to how many potatoes the Minnesota Potato Growers Exchange will be called upon to handle this season, it will be impossible to give the service that the farmers have a right to expect. Last year the exchange sent out 9,000 questionnaires and 3,000 farmers never reported. Because of that fact many phases of the operations of the exchange were carried on in the dark.

The report to be filled out has been made a very simple one. The big question is whether he has planted potatoes or not and how much. If a member has no potatoes, he should so state on the post-card that the Exchange is sending him.

In all fairness, the members of the Minnesota Potato Growers Exchange should give their organization every possible aid to function properly. If there is going to be a big reduction in potato acreage, as some reports state, this exchange should be the first to have that information. Needless to state, all information as to acreage of members, etc., is guarded as strictly confidential by the organization.

KNUTE NELSON MEMORIAL

MONS MAHLUM was named chairman of county solicitation to raise $375 as Crow Wing county's subscription to build the Knute Nelson memorial. The solicitation came at a time when many other activities were being carried on and only the small sum of $17 was obtained and which has been remitted to Charles J. Moos of St. Paul, secretary of the Memorial committee.

The Dispatch is ready to receive further subscriptions, which will be acknowledged in the paper and promptly transmitted.

When Knute Nelson first went to congress he represented the sixth district which at that time included about all of the state north of St. Cloud. Later he became governor and then United States senator and became nationally and internationally known. He has scores of friends in Brainerd and Crow Wing county and if they but realized that a small response to the call of the Memorial committee would quickly raise the county's quota, we are sure they would act.

Of the eight responses made and sent in, seven were from Brainerd and one from Crosby. Many counties have raised their quotas and this county is one of the very few lagging far behind.

"SERVICE ABOVE SELF" IS SLOGAN

Precept Voiced in St. Cloud as Charter is Dedicated For New Rotary Club

COMMUNITY HELPFULNESS

Brainerd Represented at Ceremonies 90 Per Cent of Its Membership

(From St. Cloud Daily Journal Press)

Rotary, the idea of "service—above self," and the doctrine of community helpfulness, was given full impetus in St. Cloud Wednesday night in the ceremonies of charter presentation for the Rotary club of St. Cloud at the Breen hotel.

Two hundred men from various parts of the state came here to take part in the program. These men represented clubs of Minneapolis, St. Paul, Detroit, Fergus Falls, Brainerd, Devils Lake, Hibbing, Staples, Stillwater, Winona, Grand Forks, N. D., Bismarck, N. D., and Livingston, Mont.

Automobile caravans started coming into St. Cloud early during the day, and hours before the program opened most of the visitors had arrived. One of the cities was represented by 90 per cent of their total membership, such as Brainerd, which brought all but five members, Stillwater with more than 50 per cent, etc.

The affair took shape of a Rotary love-feast. Manager Sherman Kennedy of the Sherman theatre had secured for the committee on arrangements a series of acts direct from Minneapolis. These included orchestra music, singing, dancing and comedy acts. The St. Paul quartet, too, appeared on several occasions and in each instance was roundly applauded for its offerings.

Flynn Talks "Rotary"

The spirit of Rotary, its service to the community and its principle of building to the good of mankind, was enunciated by the various speakers who took part in the program.

District Governor Edward F. Flynn in a masterful manner told of the ideals and aims and purposes of Rotary.

He said it was nothing more than playing the game of business today as the men of Rotary played their games as boys—the individual who tries to take an unfair advantage being ostracised. Mr. Flynn also talked of the service which Memorial Day meant and he discussed the great Abraham Lincoln, relating incidents of his public life.

"I sometimes wonder," he said, "when we think of the service these men gave if we really know in Rotary the meaning of service."

Urges Memorial Service

He urged all clubs to remember the veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic on Memorial Day and to keep in mind the great service rendered by them during their four years of service in a gruelling war.

Rev. Edward Cooke of the Brainerd club, discussed Rotary as a new idea which "is painful as all new ideas are." He declared that anything which brought the world out of dull routine and gave the people new ideas and was therefore a little "painful in the taking."

W. B. McClintock of Minneapolis greeted the visiting Rotarians and congratulated St. Cloud on its new club.

Local Men Talk

Dan B. Haslam, president of the local club, presided over the program and called the roll of clubs present. The president of each of the 14 clubs represented responded with a few brief words. Mr. Haslam also introduced the various speakers.

James J. Quigley assured the St. Cloud club, with the splendid beginning it had last night, would carry on, making new records as it went.

Michael F. Murray welcomed the Rotarians to St. Cloud and stated that the local club had absorbed the germ of Rotary by this meeting and would become an active member of the great family of Rotary.

Roy Dodd, one of the organizers of the local club, responded to a toast by declaring that the ambition of a number of men in St. Cloud had now been realized and that Rotary was here to stay.

Worth The Effort

Herbert Bierce of Winona in response to roll call told of the difficulties in getting here, but said that it was well worth the effort.

There was a general get-together of the visitors and local Rotarians following the meeting.

"SERVICE ABOVE SELF" IS SLOGAN

Precept Voiced in St. Cloud as Charter is Dedicated For New Rotary Club

COMMUNITY HELPFULNESS

Brainerd Represented at Ceremonies 90 Per Cent of Its Membership

(From St. Cloud Daily Journal Press)

Rotary, the idea of "service—above self," and the doctrine of community helpfulness, was given full impetus in St. Cloud Wednesday night in the ceremonies of charter presentation for the Rotary club of St. Cloud at the Breen hotel.

Two hundred men from various parts of the state came here to take part in the program. These men represented clubs of Minneapolis, St. Paul, Detroit, Fergus Falls, Brainerd, Devils Lake, Hibbing, Staples, Stillwater, Winona, Grand Forks, N. D., Bismarck, N. D., and Livingston, Mont.

Automobile caravans started coming into St. Cloud early during the day, and hours before the program opened most of the visitors had arrived. One of the cities was represented by 90 per cent of their total membership, such as Brainerd, which brought all but five members. Stillwater with more than 50 per cent, etc.

The affair took shape of a Rotary love-feast. Manager Sherman Kennedy of the Sherman theatre had secured for the committee on arrangements a series of acts direct from Minneapolis. These included orchestra music, singing, dancing and comedy acts. The St. Paul quartet, too, appeared on several occasions and in each instance was roundly applauded for its offerings.

Flynn Talks "Rotary"

The spirit of Rotary, its service to the community and its principle of building to the good of mankind, was enunciated by the various speakers who took part in the program.

District Governor Edward F. Flynn in a masterful manner told of the ideals and aims and purposes of Rotary.

He said it was nothing more than playing the game of business today as the men of Rotary played their games as boys—the individual who tries to take an unfair advantage being ostracized. Mr. Flynn also talked of the service which Memorial Day meant and he discussed the great Abraham Lincoln, relating incidents of his public life.

"I sometimes wonder," he said, "when we think of the service these men gave if we really know in Rotary the meaning of service."

Urges Memorial Service

He urged all clubs to remember the veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic on Memorial Day and to keep in mind the great service rendered by them during their four years of service in a gruelling war.

Rev. Edward Cooke of the Brainerd club, discussed Rotary as a new idea which "is painful as all new ideas are." He declared that anything which brought the world out of dull routine and gave the people new ideas and was therefore a little "painful in the taking."

W. B. McClintock of Minneapolis greeted the visiting Rotarians and congratulated St. Cloud on its new club.

Local Men Talk

Dan B. Haslam, president of the local club, presided over the program and called the roll of clubs present. The president of each of the 14 clubs represented responded with a few brief words. Mr. Haslam also introduced the various speakers.

James J. Quigley assured the St. Cloud club, with the splendid beginning it had last night, would carry on, making new records as it went.

Michael F. Murray welcomed the Rotarians to St. Cloud and stated that the local club had absorbed the germ of Rotary by this meeting and would become an active member of the great family of Rotary.

Roy Dodd, one of the organizers of the local club, responded to a toast by declaring that the ambition of a number of men in St. Cloud had now been realized and that Rotary was here to stay.

Worth The Effort

Herbert Bierce of Winona in response to roll call told of the difficulties in getting here, but said that it was well worth the effort.

There was a general get-together of the visitors and local Rotarians following the meeting.

The formal ceremony of presentation of the charter was followed with the presentation to each of the local members with a copy of the "code of ethics," the set of business principles of Rotary.

SHRINERS OPEN BIG CONCLAVE IN LOS ANGELES

TWO HUNDRED THOUSAND VISIT-ING NOBLES EX-PECTED

FILM COMPANIES ARE TO GIVE A BIG SHOW

By LINCOLN QUARBERG
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Los Angeles, June 1.—Los Angeles, world movie capitol, became the mecca of Shrinedom today, with rail and motor caravans bringing thousands of nobles to the 51st annual conclave of the Imperial Council Ancient Arabic Order Nobles of the Mystic Shrine.

For several days the advance caravans have been pouring into the city, by special trains and in motor droves, after long transcontinental treks. Every delegation of the invading nobles was greeted by a noisy welcoming party. Bands blared and trumpets sounded as the oncoming pilgrims were escorted to the mystic playground arranged for them by their California hosts.

California shriners for more than half a year had boosted and prepared for the historic pilgrimage to the western coast and it was estimated at least 200,000 nobles from every section of the country would have arrived before nightfall for the "greatest celebration in shrine history."

Although the official festivities were scheduled to begin tomorrow, lasting throughout the week, downtown and suburban streets were already alive with throngs of visiting noblemen, distinguished from "native sons" by their fezzes or uniforms.

Huge welcome streamers were flung across all leading streets, and the highways and boulevards of Los Angeles and Hollywood were lined with pillars, supporting "mystic archways," for the invading hordes to pass under in their triumphal procession of the cinema capitol.

Pretty movie stars from Hollywood joined the welcoming throngs and gave added color to the demonstrations accorded the delegates. The figurative key of city and state were relinquished for a week to the delegations of noblemen.

Spectacular entertainment features not tried at previous shrine gatherings have been arranged by the California nobles. A motion picture electrical pageant on the night of June 4 is expected to furnish a cinema climax extraordinary to the week's festival of fun.

The entire movie colony from Hollywood will parade en masse and "do their stuff" for the visitors, including stars, extras, electricians, cameramen and the megaphone-wielders. More than 150 gaily decorated floats, illuminated by huge portable generating plants, will make up the procession.

Every studio in film capitol will be represented in the line of march, and a moving panorama of desert storms, blizzards, rainfalls, and other spectacles and stunts will be staged simultaneously as the super-climax of the playfest. Hollywood will be literally transported on wheels for the entertainment of the visiting noblemen.

Motley H. Flint, director-general of the conclave, and Louis M. Cole, potentate of Al Malaikah Temple, Los Angeles, will officially greet the visiting Shriner, assisted by other nobles from Southern California temples.

Officials of the Imperial Council of the order attending the convention include James E. Chandler, imperial potentate, Kansas City; James C. Burger, imperial deputy potentate, Denver; David W. Crossland, imperial chief rabban, Montgomery, Ala.; Clarence M. Dunbar, imperial assistant rabban, Providence, R. I.; Frank C. Jones, imperial high priest and prophet, Houston, Texas; William S.

Brown, imperial treasurer, Pittsburgh; Benjamin V. Rowell, imperial recorder, Boston; Leo V. Youngworth, imperial oriental guide, Los Angeles; Esten A. Fletcher, imperial ceremonial master, Rochester, N. Y.; Thomas J. Houston, imperial second ceremonial master, Chicago; Earl C. Mills, imperial marshal, Des Moines; Clifford Ireland, captain of guards, Peoria, Ill., and John N. Sebrill, Jr., imperial outer guard, Norfolk, Va.

A parade of bands, patrols and chanters will escort the "imperial divan" and representatives to the Coliseum at 9 a. m. tomorrow for the opening exercises of the imperial council, officially inaugurating the annual conclave.

Parades, exhibition drills and informal and impromptu celebrations on downtown streets will follow, in characteristic shrine fashion, each delegation having brought its official music and noise makers.

BOTH RADIO AND CARRIER PIGEONS FOR MAC MILLAN'S USE

Washington, May 29.—The newest and the oldest form of rapid communication used by man will be relied upon to keep the MacMillan Arctic expedition in touch with the world when it shoves off into the icy waste north of Greenland this summer.

Careful preparations have been made to broadcast radio reports to the United States. These 20 meter messages can be picked up by amateurs who have apparatus capable of handling such wave lengths and will probably also be rebroadcast on common wave lengths by big stations for all fans.

But for emergency use, the expedition will take 24 highly trained, long distance carrier pigeons. The birds will be particularly relied upon for use in connection with the three navy airplanes which are to make the final dash to the pole. Though equipped with wireless, the navy wants the planes to be protected in every way possible. If the small radio sets on the planes fail to reach the outer world, the fliers will have carrier pigeons to carry their reports.

The pigeons will be sent by express from the naval air station at Anacostia, near here, to Boston and will be met there by an experienced navy pigeon trainer who will explain to the fliers how many grains of corn to feed the birds daily and the proper temperature for their baths when they are at their base at Etah, Greenland.

The 1,400 pounds of food for the birds consist of 700 pounds of Argentine corn, 300 pounds of Canada peas, 200 pounds of Kaffir corn and 200 pounds of pigeon grit. Among other articles to be supplied for the birds on the trip are: 25 pounds of tobacco for the birds to chew, bath tubs, drinking fountains, artificial nests, message books and instruction for starting the birds in the proper direction for the flight home.

Chief Quartermaster H. Kubec, U. S. N., for seven years the pigeon trainer at Anacostia, has been training these pigeons for several months, preparing them for long flights over cold country. They have proved themselves capable of flying over 500 miles a day, with unerring ability to find Anacostia.

Condition of Weeks Given as Unsatisfactory

(By United Press)
Boston, June 1.—The condition of Secretary of War Weeks continues still unsatisfactory, but not alarming, it was announced in a bulletin at 2:15 p. m. today. The bulletin, signed by Dr. D. F. Jones who operated on Secretary Weeks last Thursday for removal of gall stones, added that the patient's pulse was still 90.

SHRINERS OPEN BIG CONCLAVE IN LOS ANGELES

TWO HUNDRED THOUSAND VISIT-ING NOBLES EX-PECTED

FILM COMPANIES ARE TO GIVE
SHOW

By LINCOLN QUARBERG
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Los Angeles, June 1.—Los Angeles, world movie capital, became the mecca of Shrinism today, with rail and motor caravans bringing thousands of nobles to the 51st annual conclave of the Imperial Council Ancient Arabic Order Nobles of the Mystic Shrine.

For several days the advance caravans have been pouring into the city, by special trains and in motor droves, after long transcontinental treks. Every delegation of the invading nobles was greeted by a noisy welcoming party. Bands blared and trumpets sounded as the oncoming pilgrims were escorted to the mystic playground arranged for them by their California hosts.

California shriners for more than half a year had boasted and prepared for the historic pilgrimage to the western coast and it was estimated at least 200,000 nobles from every section of the country would have arrived before nightfall for the "greatest celebration in shrine history."

Although the official festivities were scheduled to begin tomorrow, lasting throughout the week, downtown and suburban streets were already alive with throngs of visiting noblemen, distinguished from "native sons" by their fezzes or uniforms.

Huge welcome streamers were flung across all leading streets, and the highways and boulevards of Los Angeles and Hollywood were lined with pillars, supporting "mystic archways," for the invading hordes to pass under in their triumphal possession of the cinema capital.

Pretty movie stars from Hollywood joined the welcoming throngs and gave added color to the demonstrations accorded the delegates. The figurative key of city and state were relinquished for a week to the delegations of noblemen.

Spectacular entertainment features not tried at previous shrine gatherings have been arranged by the California nobles. A motion picture electrical pageant on the night of June 4 is expected to furnish a cinema climax extraordinary to the week's festival of fun.

The entire movie colony from Hollywood will parade en masse and "do their stuff" for the visitors, including stars, extras, electricians, cameramen and the megaphone-wielders. More than 150 gaily decorated floats, illuminated by huge portable generating plants, will make up the procession.

Every studio in film capital will be represented in the line of march, and a moving panorama of desert storms, blizzards, rainfalls, and other spectacles and stunts will be staged simultaneously as the super-climax of the playfest. Hollywood will be literally transported on wheels for the entertainment of the visiting noblemen.

Motley H. Flint, director-general of the conclave, and Louis M. Cole, potentate of Al Malaikah Temple, Los Angeles, will officially greet the visiting Shriner, assisted by other nobles from Southern California temples.

Officials of the Imperial Council of the order attending the convention include James E. Chandler, imperial potentate, Kansas City; James C. Burger, imperial deputy potentate, Denver; David W. Crosland, imperial chief rabban, Montgomery, Ala.; Clarence M. Dunbar, imperial assistant rabban, Providence, R. I.; Frank C. Jones, imperial high priest and prophet, Houston, Texas; William S.

Brown, imperial treasurer, Pittsburgh; Benjamin V. Rowell, imperial recorder, Boston; Leo V. Youngworth, imperial oriental guide, Los Angeles; Esten A. Fletcher, imperial ceremonial master, Rochester, N. Y.; Thomas J. Houston, imperial second ceremonial master, Chicago; Earl C. Mills, imperial marshal, Des Moines; Clifford Ireland, captain of guards, Peoria, Ill., and John N. Seibrell, Jr., imperial outer guard, Norfolk, Va.

A parade of bands, patrols and chanters will escort the "imperial divan" and representatives to the Coliseum at 9 a. m. tomorrow for the opening exercises of the imperial council, officially inaugurating the annual conclave.

Parades, exhibition drills and informal and impromptu celebrations on downtown streets will follow, in characteristic shrine fashion, each delegation having brought its official music and noise makers.

BOTH RADIO AND CARRIER PIGEONS FOR MAC MILLAN'S USE

Washington, May 29.—The newest and the oldest form of rapid communication used by man will be relied upon to keep the MacMillan Arctic expedition in touch with the world when it shoves off into the icy waste north of Greenland this summer.

Careful preparations have been made to broadcast radio reports to the United States. These 20 meter messages can be picked up by amateurs who have apparatus capable of handling such wave lengths and will probably also be rebroadcast on common wave lengths by big stations for all fans.

But for emergency use, the expedition will take 24 highly trained, long distance carrier pigeons. The birds will be particularly relied upon for use in connection with the three navy airplanes which are to make the final dash to the pole. Though equipped with wireless, the navy wants the planes to be protected in every way possible. If the small radio sets on the planes fail to reach the outer world, the fliers will have carrier pigeons to carry their reports.

The pigeons will be sent by express from the naval air station at Anacostia, near here, to Boston and will be met there by an experienced navy pigeon trainer who will explain to the fliers how many grains of corn to feed the birds daily and the proper temperature for their baths when they are at their base at Etah, Greenland.

The 1,400 pounds of food for the birds consist of 700 pounds of Argentine corn, 300 pounds of Canada peas, 200 pounds of Kafir corn and 200 pounds of pigeon grit. Among other articles to be supplied for the birds on the trip are: 25 pounds of tobacco for the birds to chew, bath tubs, drinking fountains, artificial nests, message books and instruction for starting the birds in the proper direction for the flight home.

Chief Quartermaster H. Kubec, U. S. N., for seven years the pigeon trainer at Anacostia, has been training these pigeons for several months, preparing them for long flights over cold country. They have proved themselves capable of flying over 500 miles a day, with unerring ability to find Anacostia.

Condition of Weeks Given as Unsatisfactory

(By United Press)
Boston, June 1.—The condition of Secretary of War Weeks continues still unsatisfactory, but not alarming, it was announced in a bulletin at 2:15 p. m. today. The bulletin, signed by Dr. D. F. Jones who operated on Secretary Weeks last Thursday for removal of gall stones, added that the patient's pulse was still 90.

IMPRESSIVE SERVICE ON MEMORIAL DAY

Began at Gregory Park and Was Continued at Evergreen Cemetery

REV. F. ERRINGTON, SPEAKER

Former Minister of City and Former Local Post Chaplain, Delivered Eloquent Address

Braierd remembered her hero dead on Saturday, in a very beautiful and impressive Memorial Day observance, which began at Gregory park at 9 o'clock in the morning, was continued at Evergreen cemetery, and concluded with the tribute to the Navy dead at the Laurel street bridge.

The Braierd Ladies band opened the short service at Gregory park, and was followed by City Attorney D. H. Fullerton, who eulogized those men from Braierd and vicinity who lost their lives in the World war. A tree has been planted in the park for each of these soldiers.

The parade formed at 9:30 o'clock on North Fifth street, following Bluff avenue and Fir street to Evergreen cemetery, where an elaborate program was carried out, honoring above all others the Civil War veterans who have passed on, and their comrades who are still living, but whose ranks are rapidly thinning.

The program at the cemetery opened with the assembly call and music by the Municipal band. Rev. Father Walter Remmis offered the invocation, which was followed by the Memorial Day proclamation, given by Albert Fox, post commander, G. A. R.

Wallace Anderson, a member of the graduating class of the Braierd high school, delivered Lincoln's Gettysburg address, and the high school chorus rendered several selections.

Commander Fox and Adjutant J. A. Wilson exemplified the G. A. R. ritual, honoring the soldier dead.

Rev. Errington's Address

Rev. Frederick Errington, former pastor of the First Congregational church of Braierd, at which time he was also chaplain of the local American Legion post, was the speaker of the day, and delivered a very eloquent address.

The speaker began by thanking the committee for the invitation to speak to a splendid audience in a magnificent cemetery. He said "this cemetery is a picture, a symbol of the truth which I wish to convey. In it Catholic and Protestant, Jew and Gentile, the man of money and the humblest workman lie side by side. In it there are no boundaries dividing class from class; within its territory those who have lived together lie together in the city of the dead. "And," said the speaker, "while I think highly of Braierd as a town of living, progressive people, I think yet more highly of it because its citizens are so conscious of their oneness that they have refused to provide more than one cemetery, and my good wife has agreed that when I die I shall be buried in this cemetery, a cemetery which is a compliment to Braierd, in that it shows that whatever distinctions there may be during life, the people are ready to recognize the fact that death is no respecter of persons, and having been reduced by death to a common level they are buried together, irrespective of race or creed, class or color."

This is a day in which we put our sentiments and unite in our tribute of respect for those who have lived nobly and died bravely. A week from Sunday the Odd Fellows have their Memorial service. It was my pleasure to take part for three or four years in the annual memorial service of the Elks, a service which is marked by its beauty and dignity, but on Memorial day we come together not as Odd Fellows or Elks, but as Americans who would thank God for the noble dead, properly appraise the present, and through the inspiration the day affords become better prepared to see to it that the dead shall not have died in vain.

While the ideals for which our soldiers died may not have won out in our national, international and social order, we do wrong when we attempt to show that they died for other than the highest ideals. We think of the soldiers of the four major wars in which Americans have fought and of the things for which they fought. In the Revolutionary war men fought to win for themselves the right to determine their own destiny, freed from the interference of any outside power. Their spokesmen have said that they fought to win the right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. In this was included the right of freedom of speech and press and the right to worship God according to one's own conscience and to be immune from persecution because of adherence to any particular creed or church or conviction.

We are entitled to claim that Lincoln is the spokesman of the soldiers of the Civil war and he said that it was fought because the nation could no longer exist half slave and half free. Lincoln said other things that are not often quoted, things that as ideals inspired the men of 61 to 65 to brave deeds, things that are not often quoted because their idealism is in conflict with present reality. As long as there are representatives of the Boys in Blue in our cemeteries on Decoration day they are assured the chief place of honor, and the American Legion will see to it that they are given due respect because their devotion to a worthy cause made possible the appeal of the idealism that sent the boys in khaki to France to attempt to conserve similar ideals.

Those who went to Cuba did so to protect a small and helpless people from the oppression of a people interested in exploiting the weak. They would not stay at home when the call of weakness invited them to assist in resisting an oppressor.

In 1917 and 1918 two million Americans crossed the seas, threatened by submarines, to face the guns of an enemy, to risk a cruel death by poison gas or by the missiles hurled from aeroplanes, and they did it—why? Let President Wilson tell us, for surely he had the right to interpret the aims of that vast army.

The Commander-in-chief of the American forces said that they entered the war to "make the world safe for democracy." Anyone who would claim, for political or other purposes, that these boys went out to avenge the death of American nationals, to punish a nation for destroying the passengers on the Lusitania, to defend our shipping from attacks by submarines, to safeguard the monies loaned to the allies, or to protect our shores from the menace of a successful Germany, is casting a slur upon the idealism of the best manhood of this generation. Why repudiate our ideals because they have not been realized? It was such an ideal as this that fired the hearts of four million Americans who entered camps, and stirred the sentiments of those who bought liberty bonds and served behind the lines.

It was for such things as these that Americans have died. It is of such things as these that we think today. It is such things as these that have kept America brave and free. It is to such things as these that we must pledge our devotion. If there are those who would interfere with the pursuit of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness by the individual citizen, we must pledge ourselves to see to it that these rights, together with the right of religious liberty, are conserved at any sacrifice. I am ready to take the hand of any man, irrespective of his color, race or creed, when he comes to me pledged to the common truths of Americanism contained in that symbol of rights and liberty, the Stars and Stripes, for the bigger thing, larger than creed, or group, or class, or race, is American citizenship, when that citizenship is conceived in the terms of the founding fathers.

We must be jealous of the liberty of all groups and must see to it that never again does slavery of any kind endanger the victory of the veterans of the Civil war.

If we are true to the spirit of the Spanish-American veterans we will stand ready to hear the call of the weak and to offer our succor and help.

Nor will we be deaf to the calls that come from peoples seeking to work out their own salvation. We have heard the call to an ideal world, made safe for democracy. This dream may be hard to realize, it may mean some sacrifice, but we were thrilled by its appeal and we are not deaf to its demand. We would not ask that our youth be sent to fight battles for its victory; all that we would ask is that we remain true to it, pledged to it, determined to bring it in, not by the bloody processes of war, but by the steady advances of peaceful progress.

There was music by the Braierd Boys band, additional selections by the Municipal band and the high school chorus, the ceremony of decorating the cross, and the singing of the Star Spangled Banner.

The impressive ceremonies at the cemetery closed with the salute by the firing squad, under the direction of O. A. Peterson, and the sounding of taps. The wreaths used in decorating the cross, where later taken to the Mississippi river, where they were placed upon the waters as a tribute to the sailor dead.

Much credit is due E. I. Franson, chairman of the general Memorial Day committee, and marshal of the day, who worked out the details of the observance. All of the different sections of the exercises, both downtown and at the cemetery, were carried out as planned, and practically on scheduled time. The American Legion feels indebted to Mrs. Mayo, residing northwest of the city, for donating the use of a fine saddle horse for the marshal of the day.

The organizations represented in the parade included the G. A. R., the Ladies of the G. A. R., the Women's Relief Corps, the Spanish American War Veterans, the American Legion, the Legion Auxiliary, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Campfire girls, children from both the public and parochial schools, and many citizens.

While the veterans of more recent wars did much of the planning of the observance and participated in the parade, still it was the veterans of the Civil War who were signally honored and for whom the plans were made. The younger men acted as the escort of honor in the parade and took much of the burden of the detail work from the shoulders of the G. A. R., which this organization appreciates, for which it feels very grateful.

Evergreen cemetery never looked more beautiful than on this Memorial Day. Special efforts were made to decorate the city of the dead for the occasion and the effect brought forth many compliments.

TWO AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENTS, REPORT

In Each Case the Occupants of Cars Had Miraculous Escapes

Minneapolis Traveling Man Had His Arm Fractured in 3 Places

Two automobile accidents are reported over the Memorial day holidays. In each case the occupants had quite miraculous escapes, and the cars effected were not seriously damaged, considering the nature of the accidents.

Jerry Heffner, traveling salesman for the Firestone tire company, in trying to pass a Ford car on the Gull lake road, about five miles from the city, at 7 o'clock Saturday evening, went into the ditch and overturned. Heffner is said to have suffered a fractured arm in three places. His companion, another salesman, was unhurt.

The Dodge coupe in which the men were riding turned over in the ditch and lay on its top. The only damage done to the car was a bent fender, and broken headlights. The top was scratched. A freak of the accident was the fact that none of the windows or the windshield were broken. Mr. Heffner was taken to the hospital where his arm was given medical attention.

The second accident occurred on the Gull lake road, about a mile north of the junction of Trunk highways 2 and 19. Mrs. Wilbert A. Smith, of Northeast Braierd, driving a Ford sedan belonging to her brother, Ritchie Warrick, lost control of the car, which went into the ditch and struck a telephone pole, breaking the pole squarely in two.

In the car with Mrs. Smith were two of her children and two of the Warrick children. The two-year old child of Mrs. Smith suffered several scratches about the face from broken glass. The other occupants of the car were uninjured.

The Ford struck the telephone post from the side, which broke one of the top supports and smashed the top. Glass in the doors was broken.

Much credit is due E. I. Franson, chairman of the general Memorial Day committee, and marshal of the day, who worked out the details of the observance. All of the different sections of the exercises, both downtown and at the cemetery, were carried out as planned, and practically on scheduled time. The American Legion feels indebted to Mrs. Mayo, residing northwest of the city, for donating the use of a fine saddle horse for the marshal of the day.

The organizations represented in the parade included the G. A. R., the Ladies of the G. A. R., the Women's Relief Corps, the Spanish American War Veterans, the American Legion, the Legion Auxiliary, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Campfire girls, children from both the public and parochial schools, and many citizens.

While the veterans of more recent wars did much of the planning of the observance and participated in the parade, still it was the veterans of the Civil War who were signally honored and for whom the plans were made. The younger men acted as the escort of honor in the parade and took much of the burden of the detail work from the shoulders of the G. A. R., which this organization appreciates, for which it feels very grateful.

Evergreen cemetery never looked more beautiful than on this Memorial Day. Special efforts were made to decorate the city of the dead for the occasion and the effect brought forth many compliments.

TWO AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENTS, REPORT

In Each Case the Occupants of Cars Had Miraculous Escapes

Minneapolis Traveling Man Had His Arm Fractured in 3 Places

Two automobile accidents are reported over the Memorial day holidays. In each case the occupants had quite miraculous escapes, and the cars effected were not seriously damaged, considering the nature of the accidents.

Jerry Heffner, traveling salesman for the Firestone tire company, in trying to pass a Ford car on the Gull lake road, about five miles from the city, at 7 o'clock Saturday evening, went into the ditch and overturned. Heffner is said to have suffered a fractured arm in three places. His companion, another salesman, was unhurt.

The Dodge coupe in which the men were riding turned over in the ditch and lay on its top. The only damage done to the car was a bent fender and broken headlights. The top was scratched. A freak of the accident was the fact that none of the windows or the windshield were broken. Mr. Heffner was taken to the hospital where his arm was given medical attention.

The second accident occurred on the Gull lake road, about a mile north of the junction of Trunk highways 2 and 19. Mrs. Wilbert A. Smith, of Northeast Brainerd, driving a Ford sedan belonging to her brother, Ritchie Warrick, lost control of the car, which went into the ditch and struck a telephone pole, breaking the pole squarely in two.

In the car with Mrs. Smith were two of her children and two of the Warrick children. The two-year old child of Mrs. Smith's suffered several scratches about the face from broken glass. The other occupants of the car were uninjured.

The Ford struck the telephone post from the side, which broke one of the top supports and smashed the top. Glass in the doors was broken.

GIANTS' RUNAWAY RACE TIRES THE FANS

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, June 1.—Ten years ago Connie Mack had to wreck a perfect ball club because it was too good. The winning habit had become so firmly affixed to the Philadelphia Athletics that the fans would not pay any longer to see them run away with the opposition.

The New York Giants may have the same experience, as the metropolitan customers are showing signs of getting bored with too much winning baseball. The early spring weather was bad enough to hurt the attendance, but the fans that did go out to the park were anything but enthusiastic about the team.

New York fans, of course, haven't the partisan followers that the Reds have in Cincinnati or the St. Louis teams have at home, but the New York fans never have been as generous in their treatment of visiting clubs as they have this year. The Giants are so much lacking in personality that they do not inspire any one to rabid rooting. Old Hank Gowdy is the only colorful player on the team.

The joke that the Giants were making out of the National League pennant race in the early part of the season will not only hurt the business in New York, but it will have a bad effect on all the other cities in the league. The Giants look so good, most everyone thinks the race will be over on the fourth of July and a battle for second place is not enough to sustain interest if the American League is engaging in a free-for-all fight for the pennant.

The Giants were good enough to win four pennants in tight races that retained interest until the last game of the season, but the team this year is better than it has been in five years, because the pitchers were working so much better. It is a young ball club and it looks like it is not only a cinch for the pennant this year, but is good for several more.

TOURNAMENT A JOKE, SAYS FARRELL

Difficulty in making the weight rather than any desire to preserve his facial beauty for the drama is generally regarded to have prompted Benny Leonard to retire as the lightweight champion of the world. The boys who follow boxing closely were free in expressing the opinion long before Leonard decided he would crowd Al Jolson and Eddie Cantor out of the spotlight that he would have to remove one arm and a leg to make 135 pounds.

After looking over what is left in the elimination tournament that the New York Boxing Commission organized to find a new lightweight champion, most any one will agree that a one-armed and one-footed Leonard could have beaten any two of them without suffering the indignity of having his hair ruffled.

When Sammy Mandell, the only first-class boxer in the class, was disqualified for hitting Jimmy Goodrich low in one of the semi-final bouts of the tournament, there remained the sorriest looking bunch of championship possibilities that could be imagined.

Jimmy Johnston, manager of Johnny Dundee, the former featherweight champion, was squatted in the press box during the fights.

"My old man could go in there and lick any man in the ring without training a day. Yes, he could even lick Mandell," he said.

It is very doubtful that Dundee could beat Mandell or that any other lightweight in the world today could beat the Rockford youth, but Dundee should not have any trouble in beating Goodrich, Benny Valger, Stanislaus Loayza or Cirilin Orlando.

The tournament practically exploded when Mandell was forced out of it on a questionable foul that was certainly not intentional, if it did land low.

STAR INFIELDER LIKELY TO RULE ST. LOUIS CLUB

BRANCH RICKEY PLANS TO RETIRE FROM ACTIVE DUTIES

IS PART OWNER AND EXPECTS TO TAKE CARE OF PRESIDENT'S DUTIES

St. Louis, June 1.—Rogers Hornsby, star infielder of the St. Louis Cardinals, may become manager of the team within the next few days.

Branch Rickey, present pilot, plans to retire and just take care of the president's duties. Rickey is part owner and president of the club at the present.

He manages the team during the week days but on Sundays has always had an understudy take charge of the team.

Hornsby and Rickey have had several run-ins but the trouble has been patched up this season and it is said that the pair are working in perfect harmony.

Several clubs, including the Giants have offered the St. Louis club as high as $250,000 for Hornsby, but the offers have always been spurned.

Hornsby is without doubt the greatest batter in the history of the National league and this does not exclude Hans Wagner and one or two others.

His records are too numerous to mention. If Hornsby is appointed pilot he will be the second playing manager in the National league. Dave Bancroft pilots the Boston Braves and holds down the short stop position.

The American league has Eddie Collins of the White Sox, Stan Harris of the Senators, Tris Speaker of the Indians and Ty Cobb of the Tigers as the playing managers.

Joe Lohman, Toledo Boxer, Struck by Automobile

Toledo, O., June 1.—Joe Lohman, Toledo's crack middle weight boxer, was badly injured when he was struck by an automobile here. Lohman was crossing the street and failed to see an auto driven by J. W. Houston. Lohman was thrown several feet in the accident.

Self-Sustaining and More

Monticello Times
Anyone who has kept correct account of the costs of running an automobile knows that the good roads have saved to the owners of automobiles considerably more than the license fees which they have paid. Under the old system of bad roads the cost per mile for running a car was a little more than ten cents. The county agents who are compelled to keep strict account of their operating expense show that the cost of operating a light car last year was 7.31 cents per mile. Anyone traveling 3,000 miles in such a car saves $75, a net saving over the license of $63. One only has to use his car 500 miles to pay the license fee. Let us have more hard roads so that the expense of maintenance can be kept to the minimum. The reaction for paving is setting in now and will continue to grow so strong as to force the legislature to give the people of the state the kind of roads which not only make for economy in transportation but for economy in construction, for they will last a lifetime.

Bali Men Steal Wives

The men of Bali, an island in the Indian archipelago, still as they did centuries ago secure their wives by purchase or capture, according to the Family Herald. An exchange of ardent glances in temple or market place and perhaps a few clandestine meetings tell the lover if the lady is not averse to abduction. He knows, however, that if he is caught in the act of carrying her off her willingness will not satisfy father or brother; so he lays his plans carefully and smuggles her away in absolute secrecy. After a few days in hiding the groom sends a friend to his bride's parents to ask their forgiveness.

Though the messenger invariably is received with great show of hostility, the culprits usually are forgiven. But if the third visit of the "go-between" is without result the lover and his bride are doomed to banishment from their village and people.

FORMAL OPENING OF GOLF LINKS OF BRAINERD CLUB

OVER 150 PEOPLE TURNED OUT TO ENJOY COOL BREEZES AND WATCH TOURNAMENT

DOWN RIVER DELEGATION NUMBERED APPROXIMATELY 25 GOLFERS

The formal opening of the local links of the Brainerd Country club on Memorial day was all and more than was expected. Something over 150 people turned out to enjoy the cool breezes of the links and to watch the Brainerd team hang Little Falls' scalp to its belt to the tune of 13 up.

The Little Falls players began arriving at 1:30 p. m. and play started promptly. The down river delegation numbered approximately 25. Play was completed about 6 p. m. and all were treated to a generous and appetizing luncheon prepared by the ladies of the club and served in the newly-furnished clubhouse by the Misses Betty Murphy, Genevieve Flanagan, Evelyn Ryan and Jane Clark. It was a glorious feed and one that fittingly topped off one of the most satisfying days ever experienced at the links. The ladies of the club assuredly deserve the praise expressed on every hand.

The final score follows elsewhere, but does not express the difficulties of the play. Ed Webb, one of the club's most persistent golfers, was at several times on the point of winding his inoffensive masher around the knotty trunk of some sturdy pine. The strong wind which prevailed raised havoc with putting and artistic curves and parabolas which, in some manner or another, always managed to barely miss the cup, were the fashion on every green. The "Master of the Mashie," whose identity must remain a secret, was more "mastered" than "master." Many pars were collected, but birdies were woefully scarce owing to the difficulty of correctly judging the wind.

Those not playing enjoyed the cool breeze which swept through the clubhouse and passed the time in playing bridge and five hundred. All in all it was one of the most successful days ever enjoyed on the local links. A return match with Little Falls at their links is in the process of making for the near future.

The final score follows:

FAMOUS FORTS IN U. S. HISTORY

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON

Where Narragansetts Fought and Died

It was bitter cold that winter morning in 1675 and the snow lay deep on the ground. But in the Indian fort of Sunke Squaw the hearts of the red men were warm, for in its security they felt little fear of an attack by the white men who had driven King Philip, the Wampanoag leader, out of Massachusetts to seek a refuge among Chief Canonchet's fierce Narragansetts. They did not know that the colonies of Massachusetts Bay, Plymouth and Connecticut were sending Gov. Josiah Winslow of Plymouth with a force of nearly a thousand men against them.

This fort, which stood near what is now South Kingston, R. I., covered several acres of ground and was built on high ground surrounded by a treacherous swamp. It was protected on all sides by heavy palisades driven deep into the ground and its only entrance was over a narrow log bridge. It was probably the finest stronghold ever built by Indians, and in it were 3,000 red men.

Winslow's army arrived late in the afternoon of December 19, and, despite the fact that the colonists were weary from their long march through the snow, an attack was launched immediately. Again and again they were driven back as they tried to gain an entrance over the log bridge. Six of their captains and a large number of soldiers were killed. Then Capt. Benjamin Church, the most famous New England Indian fighter, assailed the rear of the fort where it was least protected, and although he was shot three times he succeeded in leading his men over the walls.

Inside the stronghold the battle raged more fiercely than ever, for the Indians put up a stubborn defense from within their wigwags, made bullet proof by the great stores of food piled in them. Finally Church gave the order to fire the wigwags, and as the lodges burst into flames the Indians were forced out into the open. But it was a costly victory for the whites, for their loss was 80 killed and 150 wounded.

Nearly 1,000 of the Indians were killed or died of cold and hunger soon afterward. The power of the Narragansetts was broken. King Philip escaped, but the capture of Sunke Squaw was the beginning of the end. Within a year he had been run to earth and New England's great Indian war was over.

BRANCH RICKEY PLANS TO RETIRE FROM ACTIVE DUTIES

IS PART OWNER AND EXPECTS TO TAKE CARE OF PRESIDENT'S DUTIES

St. Louis, June 1.—Rogers Hornsby, star infielder of the St. Louis Cardinals, may become manager of the team within the next few days.

Branch Rickey, present pilot, plans to retire and just take care of the president's duties. Rickey is part owner and president of the club at the present.

He manages the team during the wet days but on Sundays has always had an understudy take charge of the team.

Hornsby and Rickey have had several run-ins but the trouble has been patched up this season and it is said that the pair are working in perfect harmony.

Several clubs, including the Giants have offered the St. Louis club as high as $250,000 for Hornsby, but the offers have always been spurned.

Hornsby is without doubt the greatest batter in the history of the National league and this does not exclude Hans Wagner and one or two others.

His records are too numerous to mention. If Hornsby is appointed pilot he will be the second playing manager in the National league. Dave Bancroft pilots the Boston Braves and holds down the short stop position.

The American league has Eddie Collins of the White Sox, Stan Harris of the Senators, Tris Speaker of the Indians and Ty Cobb of the Tigers as the playing managers.

Joe Lohman, Toledo Boxer, Struck by Automobile

Toledo, O., June 1.—Joe Lohman, Toledo's crack middle weight boxer, was badly injured when he was struck by an automobile here. Lohman was crossing the street and failed to see an auto driven by J. W. Houston. Lohman was thrown several feet in the accident.

Self-Sustaining and More

Monticello Times

Anyone who has kept correct account of the costs of running an automobile knows that the good roads have saved to the owners of automobiles considerably more than the license fees which they have paid. Under the old system of bad roads the cost per mile for running a car was a little more than ten cents. The county agents who are compelled to keep strict account of their operating expense show that the cost of operating a light car last year was 7.31 cents per mile. Anyone traveling 3,000 miles in such a car saves $75, a net saving over the license of $63. One only has to use his car 500 miles to pay the license fee. Let us have more hard roads so that the expense of maintenance can be kept to the minimum. The reaction for paying is setting in now and will continue to grow so strong as to force the legislature to give the people of the state the kind of roads which not only make for economy in transportation but for economy in construction, for they will last a lifetime.

MINNESOTA SCORES WIN OVER WISCONSIN NINE

Madison, June 1.—Minnesota won its fifth straight game in the Big Ten conference by defeating Wisconsin 7 to 2.

A rally in the seventh netted the Gophers five runs and a lead too great for the locals to overcome.

Making Most of a Bad Bargain

Hibbing News

The state highway fund got the knife, as did a number of others. The highway commission therefore is somewhat handicapped in carrying out its highway construction program for this year.

With that condition existing, Highway Commissioner Babcock has suggested that greater attention be given to spending available funds for permanent highways where traffic is heavy, and to cut down to the lowest possible extent the construction of gravel roads, which are not permanent.

That's sensible advice, from two points of view. The first is that the concrete road is a permanency and requires but little outlay for upkeep. The second is that it is a waste of public money to attempt to hold up a gravel road where there is even normal traffic—and normal traffic of today may be abnormal tomorrow.

It is to be hoped that the lack of an adequate road fund will have a tendency to teach our road-builders that the concrete is cheaper and better in the long run even if the initial cost is much higher. It is better to build one mile of highway that will stay without costly attendance than ten miles at the same price that demands constant outlay to keep it even, or approaching the requirements.

Print Magazine on Paper From Minnesota Trees

St. Paul, May 28.—The state forestry department has printed the current number of its monthly publication, "The Smoke Screen," on paper made from trees grown in Minnesota.

The entire process of manufacturing the paper was carried on in Minnesota. This is pointed out by the editor of the paper as one of the major reasons why forests should be protected and scientific forestry practiced.

FORMAL OPENING OF GOLF LINKS OF BRAINERD CLUB

OVER 150 PEOPLE TURNED OUT TO ENJOY COOL BREEZES AND WATCH TOURNAMENT

DOWN RIVER DELEGATION NUMBERED APPROXIMATELY 25 GOLFERS

The formal opening of the local links of the Brainerd Country club on Memorial day was all and more than was expected. Something over 150 people turned out to enjoy the cool breezes of the links and to watch the Brainerd team hang Little Falls' scalp to its belt to the tune of 13 up.

The Little Falls players began arriving at 1:30 p. m. and play started promptly. The down river delegation numbered approximately 25. Play was completed about 6 p. m. and all were treated to a generous and appetizing luncheon prepared by the ladies of the club and served in the newly-furnished clubhouse by the Misses Betty Murphy, Genevieve Flanagan, Evelyn Ryan and Jane Clark. It was a glorious feed and one that fittingly topped off one of the most satisfying days ever experienced at the links. The ladies of the club assuredly deserve the praise expressed on every hand.

The final score follows elsewhere, but does not express the difficulties of the play. Ed Webb, one of the club's most persistent golfers, was at several times on the point of winding his inoffensive masher around the knotty trunk of some sturdy pine. The strong wind which prevailed raised havoc with putting and artistic curves and parabolas which, in some manner or another, always managed to barely miss the cup, were the fashion on every green. The "Master of the Masher," whose identity must remain a secret, was more "mastered" than "master." Many pars were collected, but birdies were woefully scarce owing to the difficulty of correctly judging the wind.

Those not playing enjoyed the cool breeze which swept through the clubhouse and passed the time in playing bridge and five hundred. All in all it was one of the most successful days ever enjoyed on the local links. A return match with Little Falls at their links is in the process of making for the near future.

The final score follows:

Bali Men Steal Wives

The men of Bali, an island in the Indian archipelago, still as they did centuries ago secure their wives by purchase or capture, according to the Family Herald. An exchange of ardent glances in temple or market place and perhaps a few clandestine meetings tell the lover if the lady is not averse to abduction. He knows, however, that if he is caught in the act of carrying her off her willingness will not satisfy father or brother; so he lays his plans carefully and smuggles her away in absolute secrecy. After a few days in hiding the groom sends a friend to his bride's parents to ask their forgiveness.

Though the messenger invariably is received with great show of hostility, the culprits usually are forgiven. But if the third visit of the "go-between" is without result the lover and his bride are doomed to banishment from their village and people.

FAMOUS FORTS IN U. S. HISTORY

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON

Where Narragansetts Fought and Died

It was bitter cold that winter morning in 1675 and the snow lay deep on the ground. But in the Indian fort of Sunke Squaw the hearts of the red men were warm, for in its security they felt little fear of an attack by the white men who had driven King Philip, the Wampanoag leader, out of Massachusetts to seek a refuge among Chief Canonicet's fierce Narragansetts. They did not know that the colonies of Massachusetts Bay, Plymouth and Connecticut were sending Gov. Josiah Winslow of Plymouth with a force of nearly a thousand men against them.

This fort, which stood near what is now South Kingston, R. I., covered several acres of ground and was built on high ground surrounded by a treacherous swamp. It was protected on all sides by heavy palisades driven deep into the ground and its only entrance was over a narrow log bridge. It was probably the finest stronghold ever built by Indians, and in it were 3,000 red men.

Winslow's army arrived late in the afternoon of December 19, and, despite the fact that the colonists were weary from their long march through the snow, an attack was launched immediately. Again and again they were driven back as they tried to gain an entrance over the log bridge. Six of their captains and a large number of soldiers were killed. Then Capt. Benjamin Church, the most famous New England Indian fighter, assailed the rear of the fort where it was least protected, and although he was shot three times he succeeded in leading his men over the walls.

Inside the stronghold the battle raged more fiercely than ever, for the Indians put up a stubborn defense from within their wigwams, made bullet proof by the great stores of food piled in them. Finally Church gave the order to fire the wigwams, and as the lodges burst into flames the Indians were forced out into the open. But it was a costly victory for the whites, for their loss was 80 killed and 150 wounded.

Nearly 1,000 of the Indians were killed or died of cold and hunger soon afterward. The power of the Narragansetts was broken. King Philip escaped, but the capture of Sunke Squaw was the beginning of the end. Within a year he had been run to earth and New England's great Indian war was over.
